Master

ESPOL Summer reader 2019-2020

Nothing better than reading a little bit to get a taste of and/or remember and strengthen your knowledge in political science and global politics. These texts will offer a panorama of the fundamentals you will have to acquire and discuss. This is particularly crucial for (but not restricted to) students without a background in political and social sciences. Reading some of the following works will save you some extra work and unnecessary stress in the fall semester.

This list is not exhaustive but encompasses a few classics in different disciplines covered in our different MA programmes. For each of them, a temporary download link is provided (links expire on 6 September 2019 and are for personal use only).
